In Memoriam of our beloved deacon The Rev. Carol Burgess

St. MM grieves the loss of our friend, Carol Jean Burgess, who passed away Sept. 2, 2020.

We remember Carol:

Bette Hanham: Carol was my best friend, one of the treasures of my lifetime. We were like siblings in many ways, free to share our deepest feelings, things silly and serious (excluding politics!). She was an excellent listener, a quality quite rare. When my husband, Bill, died she and Tim were my rock. They fed me, consoled me, befriended me in so many loving ways. In recent times Carol called me every afternoon for an end of the day visit. I weep at my loss. I will miss my dear friend. I already do.

Phyllis Marion: My parents were friends with Carol's parents long before I knew Carol. When Jean-Charles and I moved to Seven Lakes I joined Carol's book club. There she told me about St. MM, and that's what brought me here. As a book club member, she was knowledgeable, always offering insightful critiques.

Alice Hollingsworth: When I was music director at St. MM, Carol supported everything I did, and was always a good friend.

Pete Olson: Carol was a wonderful conversationalist, very knowledgeable regarding health issues and nursing. She patiently trained me as Lay Eucharistic Minister, for which I am truly grateful. Carol was a nice person.

Skip Ragland: Carol was a St. MM treasure!

Reflections from the Vicar

My wife Ellen has been studying the Gospel of John with a Community Bible Study group via Zoom, and she, from time to time, shares what she is learning. But even more impressive than new insights has been the encouragement she has received from the whole experience. The Psalmist reflected, "When anxiety was great within me, your consolation brought me joy."<sup>1</sup> Ellen has genuinely experienced comfort and joy as she has connected with this group. Another translation of that same verse says, "When my anxious thoughts multiply within me, your consolation delights my soul." Ellen has been able to share some of those anxious thoughts with her study group, and she has discovered how vital it is to her spiritual wellbeing to stay connected with others.

During these unusual times, staying connected may seem difficult. But it's those little things that mean so much. Phone calls, one on one gatherings, and getting together in small groups via Zoom are all ways we can share each other's burdens as we wrestle with anxiety during these challenging times.

Our own Zoom Bible study is small, but we have all seen in our history how this little church can be a light to others. The prophet Zechariah said, "Who dares despise that day of small things."<sup>2</sup> So even though we may be "small" doing "small things," those very things may bring consolation that is much needed, making those little things great things in the eyes of the Lord. So let's be encouraged and keep up the good work of staying connected.

Blessings and peace,

<sup>1</sup> Psalm 94:19

Remembrances of Carol: Continued from page 1

Sherol Grigerick: Carol had a gift of encouraging people to try new ways to serve God and our Church. Over the years, she recruited people to sing in the choir, serve as chalicists, serve as Lay Eucharistic ministers, and lead the healing services. When she asked me to lead the healing service, I was reluctant at first. However, she gave me guidance and directed me in a positive and uplifting way.

Phyllis Olson: Carol truly loved St. MM Church and was totally committed to it. She and Tim were great hosts and could comfortably invite the whole congregation into their home. Carol was a musician and sometimes played her violin for our worship services.

MEMORIAM OF CAROL BURGESS:

The Rev. Tally Bandy

Like all of you, I am reeling over Deacon Carol's sudden passing through the thin veil that separates this life from the life to come. How many times have I said the following words at a burial? : "She is now in the nearer presence of God." With the deep sorrow in my heart I find myself wondering what those words mean.

Carol and I shared our diaconal ministry for over twenty years. We did dual preaching sermons at Emmanuel explaining the Eucharist and the deacon's role. So many, including some priests, do not understand the deacon's call and ministry. Carol and I would laugh and say that folks thought we had flunked Theology 101. Someone recently asked, "How can you be called The Reverend when you're not ordained? We are ordained. Just look in the Book of Common Prayer and read the ordination of bishops, priests and deacons. All have different calls. If there is a hierarchy, we are at the bottom of the totem pole. In fact, in the catechism when the question is asked: "Who are the ministers of the church?" the laity comes first.

Following my first knee replacement five years ago Carol moved in with me. I called her Nurse Ratchet when she forced me to get up and bend that knee when I just wanted to stay in bed with an ice pack. She got up at 2 a.m. to give me pain medication and then, a typical nurse, recorded it in a ledger. Thanks to her toughness my knee healed.

When Jessie and I couldn't get a venue for an art show to benefit the children of Tanzania, Carol stepped forward. She planned the food, flowers and wine and she and Tim helped us hang all of Jessie's beautiful paintings for at least four art shows.

We drove to clergy conferences, deacon's retreats and Diocesan Conventions over the years and laughed as we tried to solve the problems of the Church and the world. We surely flunked that.

During this pandemic, often at five o'clock, we'd talk on the phone with our glass of wine, calling it "wine time." In it all, even with her post-polio syndrome Carol never complained. She was a true and great servant of the Lord's and a friend that I will miss the rest of my days. Tally

Come, ye thankful people, come,

Raise the song of harvest home.
All is safely gathered in,
Ere the winter storms begin.
God, Our Maker, doth provide
For our wants to be supplied.
Come to God's own temple, come.
Raise the song of harvest home.
